This is the 5th Sunday of Lent. Jesus resurrects Lazarus. He makes Lazarus open the tomb and come out after 4 days of death. "Lazarus, come out!" The resurrection of Lazarus reveals the glory of God. God breaks through death and gives new life to us. It is for us who live imprisoned in the flesh and in death to be born again, and gain the new life of God. In Jesus, the life of God is, and those who have Jesus in their life participate in the life. Those who participate in the life given through Jesus are the children of God. Those who do not know this life are dead, though they live in the world.

Martha, Marian, and Lazarus are brother and sisters. Maria washed Jesus' feet with expensive oil. She was regarded as a sinner. Jesus is told to love them so much. By the way, Jesus hears of the death of Lazarus. Jesus comes to Lazarus and brings him out from the tomb. Lazarus' death for 4 days is brought back to life.

Death means the end of our life. However, our life does not point only to our life of the flesh. Our flesh is doomed to disappear eventually. The more important thing than the life of the flesh is the life of the spirit. The life of the spirit comes from God and is related to eternal life. Losing eternal life is more disastrous and cruel than losing the life of the flesh. Even the life of the flesh is meaningless and in vain finally after the disappearance of the life of the spirit. The life which enables us to live truly is due to the very life of the spirit.

Jeremiah stresses strongly to say that we must gain eternal life again. It is said that we can be born newly from death out of our tomb. He declares that the one who gives us eternal life is the true Lord. "I will open your graves and have you rise from them, and bring you back to the land of Israel. Then you shall know that I am the LORD, when I open your graves and have you rise from them, O my people! I will put my spirit in you that you may live, and I will settle you upon your land; thus you shall know that I am the LORD. I have promised, and I will do it, says the LORD."

Paul also invites us to eternal life. He invites to enshrine the spirit of God and live according to the will of God. When we do so, we are taught to practice righteousness, and live eternal life in spite of our physical death. He says that those who live for flesh can never escape from death, and that those who live with Jesus and the Holy Spirit who resurrects Jesus, live a true life.

"Those who are in the flesh cannot please God. But you are not in the flesh; on the contrary, you are in the spirit, if only the Spirit of God dwells in you. Whoever does not have the Spirit of Christ does not belong to him. But if Christ is in you, although the body is dead because of sin, the spirit is alive because of righteousness. If the Spirit of the one who raised Jesus from the dead dwells in you, the one who raised Christ from the dead will give life to your mortal bodies also, through his Spirit that dwells in you."

The resurrection of Lazarus lets us know that the one who enables us to live truly is not the world of flesh, but the One who lives in the Holy Spirit. It reveals that the power and glory of God are with those who live in the Holy Spirit. Likewise, it invites us to live not entangled with flesh and the world, but truly and righteously. It teaches us to live eternal life beyond death.

Those who seek and serve God, and live truly and righteously, have the life of God. They go beyond the death of the flesh and live the life of resurrection. They live with the power of God. We must not forget that the power which overcomes the difficulties, sins, and darkness of the world comes only from God. The death of flesh cannot steal the life of God. Therefore, we do not have to fear the death of the flesh. The truly dangerous thing is the death of the spirit.

The dead in spirit belongs to the world, and not to God. That is why they seek the power of the world. They misunderstand the power of the world to protect them. However, the death of flesh reveals truly that their expectation is wrong eventually. It can never protect us. The One who gives us eternal life is God only. We also need to ask to be back to life from the death of the world and the flesh. We must reveal the glory of God. We must profess that God is the only true God and that we have to live righteously according to God the truth. "Lazarus, come out!"
